

Top female YouTubers in India: a professional guide

India has a diverse and vibrant YouTube community, with many female creators who have built a large following and have become influential in their respective niches.

Here are some of the top female YouTubers in India:

1. Bhuvan Bam: With over 27 million subscribers, Bhuvan Bam is one of the most popular YouTubers in India. He is known for his comedic skits and vlogs, and has won several awards for his content.
2. Lilly Singh: Lilly Singh, also known as Superwoman, is a Canadian-Indian YouTuber, comedian, and actress. She has over 15 million subscribers on her channel and is known for her comedic skits, vlogs, and interviews.
3. Prajakta Koli: Prajakta Koli, also known as MostlySane, is an Indian YouTuber, comedian, writer and actress, has over 12 million subscribers on her channel. She is known for her comedic skits and vlogs, and has won several awards for her content.
4. Nisha Madhulika: Nisha Madhulika is an Indian YouTuber who specializes in cooking and food-related content. She has over 11 million subscribers and is known for her easy-to-follow recipes and cooking tips.

1. Ashnoor Kaur: Ashnoor Kaur is an Indian child actress and YouTuber. She has over 10 million subscribers and is known for her vlogs, beauty tutorials and comedic skits.
2. Shruti Arjun Anand: Shruti Arjun Anand is an Indian beauty blogger, makeup artist and YouTuber. She has over 8 million subscribers and is known for her makeup tutorials and beauty tips.
3. Sandhya Sharma : Sandhya Sharma, also known as Sandhya's Kitchen, is an Indian YouTuber, who specializes in cooking and food-related content. She has over 8 million subscribers and is known for her easy-to-follow recipes and cooking tips.

These are just a few examples of the many talented female YouTubers in India. Keep in mind that the popularity of YouTubers can change over time and it's always recommended to check the latest statistics and trends.